Description :

Electronic CDI Distributor, set, technical teaching equipment for engineering

For more than 30 years, CDI Electronics has designed, manufactured, and distributed their outboard engine components from their facility in Alabama. We offer over 700 outboard engine ignition parts, along with service tools, and marine engine diagnostic software for most of the major engine brands.

The product offering covers engines originating from 1968 through most current 2 cycle outboard engines and sterndrive motors. Visit the search feature of the website or view the application listing shown in our full line catalog to find the right part for your engine.

We staff a dedicated team of ignition experts who are ready to assist you in troubleshooting any ignition related fault. This team brings over 70 years of combined experience in the ignition service field, from design to real world, hands-on debugging of sophisticated ignition systems.
