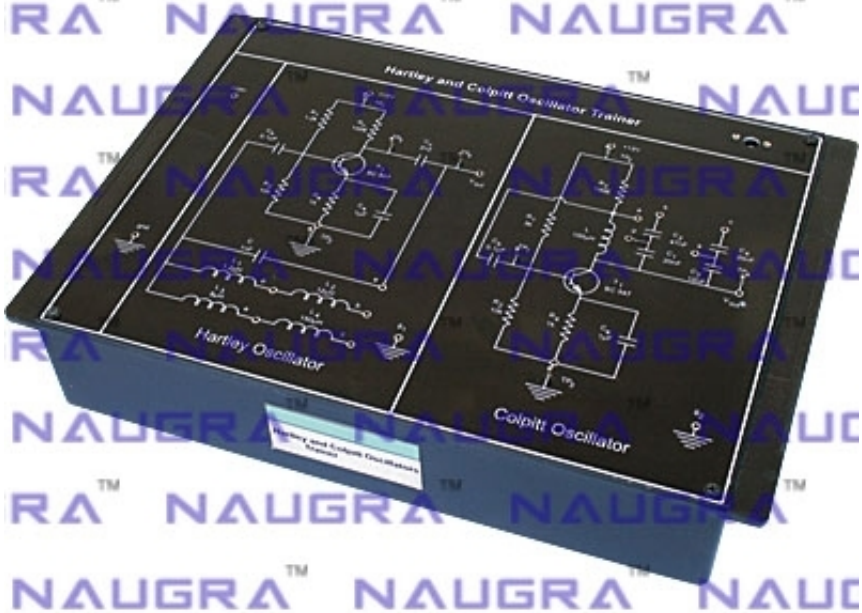
Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators Trainer for Electronics Teaching Labs	BEL-TR-06



Description :

Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators Trainer - Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators Trainer -The Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators Trainer is an elite training system for the analog electronics laboratories. It is useful in understanding the basic concepts and functioning of both Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators and their use in generation of sinusoidal waveform. This trainer describes the complete designing of the Oscillators. The training system is designed in such a way that for performing any experiment students have to connect the links by patch cords hence it is very helpful for students to learn step by step design of each of the Oscillator

Exclusive and compact design

Straight forward representation of Hartley and Colpitt Oscillators

+12V SMPS Adaptor provided with the trainer for power supply

Designed by considering all the safety standards

Provided with an extensive manual

Low cost trainer including illustration of Oscillator`s design using passive elements
